Starting from 29 June
Welcome to this edition of our refreshed NE1 Get into Newcastle magazine – with a fold! We really hope you like the new layout. Much of the content will be familiar, including all the best activities and events that Newcastle has to offer, and now including other news about what’s going on in everyone’s favourite city!

With the seemingly endless Brexit uncertainties and the stark disparity in, for example, levels of transport investment between the North and South of the country, it’s beholden on us all to talk up Newcastle and talk up the city region. We’ll be using the pages of this fortnightly magazine to bring you regular and interesting snippets from various sectors operating in the city, for example the world of business, arts & culture, and medical science, so people can learn a little more about some of the great things that are happening right under our noses.

We know there’s a buzz up here - so please tell other people what you learn and help us spread the word. By the same token, if your business is doing something amazing and you’d like people to know then don't hesitate to get in touch. I very much hope you enjoy the new format.

Pride in our city

IT’S JULY, THE SUN IS SHINING AND THE CITY IS A SEA OF RAINBOWS! IT MEANS ONE THING, NORTHERN PRIDE IS BACK IN THE TOON. HERE’S WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT FROM THIS YEAR’S COLOURFUL LGBTQ+ EVENT...

Pride is back! And it’s as vibrant as ever with a lively line-up of more pop stars and party people than ever before.

Team NET is delighted to, once again, sponsor the UK’s biggest and best free Pride festival, as it returns to the Town Moor and Exhibition Park! The thrilling three-day festival takes over from Friday 19th until Sunday 21st July 2019, bringing big-name artists, fairground rides and an array of food and drink options for families and party-goers alike.

This year, the Town Moor becomes the Pride Festival Arena, home to the Main Stage; while Exhibition Park joins the festival to host the Community Village and fun-filled family zones.

The fun doesn’t stop there. Northern Pride Festival also includes the Stonewall Remembrance March as a sparking sea of rainbow colours descends on the city for another Pride parade! Over 20,000 people joined the parade last year, let’s see those figures rise again for 2019! Visit the Northern Pride website and kit yourselves out in your rainbow colours, before filling your diaries with all the fun stuff - including live music from Fleur East, Saara Aalto and Liberty X - headlining the Manchester Airport Los Angeles Stage, while the legendary Bongo’s Bingo celebrations play out on the Friday night. Other must-see acts include Newcastle’s Queen...
Saara Aalto takes to the stage...

She’s an X Factor star, Dancing on Ice finalist and even the voice of a Disney princess - and this summer, Saara Aalto will be taking centre stage at the Northern Pride Festival on Saturday 20th July 2019!

ARE YOU EXCITED ABOUT HEADING TO THE TOON FOR THE 2019 NORTHERN PRIDE FESTIVALS?

I’m very excited to come back to Newcastle. We came for the X Factor Tour and I have heard so much about it from my fellow contestant Sam Lavery. Pride Festivals are the best events of the summer. Obviously it’s quite a personal thing for me, but it’s also such a beautiful event that is all about love and I just love to perform there and have fun.

HOW DOES IT FEEL BEING BACK ON THE BIG STAGE?

I had to take six months out for Dancing on Ice so it’s great to be back on stage, it’s like this is what I’m meant to be doing, this is what I love. I’ve been performing in China, Europe and the UK — the best audience is actually in the UK because they are so open and very loud. In Finland, people are much more reserved so I have to work harder on stage. You perform in the UK and people are screaming and it’s a lot easier!

WHAT’S NEXT?

When I think about life, I have achieved everything I want to do — it’s crazy! My dreams usually come true, so I have to be careful what I wish for. I have to sit down and think what do I actually want to do next? I want to keep on singing. People always say it’s so different to see me live. I am a live performer, it’s what I love to do!

See Saara Aalto perform live on the Manchester Airport Los Angeles stage at Northern Pride Festival on Saturday 20th July 2019.

WHAT ELSE IS ON IN THE CITY?

We’re bringing back our Blackett Street weekends!

SUMMER IN THE CITY CONTINUES WITH THE RETURN OF OUR BLACKETT STREET FAMILY FUN WEEKENDS!

The grass is back, the fairground is heading to town and the garden games are ready to bring plenty of family fun to the heart of the city! Once again, Blackett Street will be pedestrianised for the people of NE1 to enjoy - offering an exciting outside space for the summer months. Last year we saw crowds gather week-on-week to enjoy this colourful new addition to NE1! Our Blackett Street Weekends totally transformed the heart of the city's shopping district, inviting families to enjoy the sunshine, get involved in activities, pull up a beanbag and watch the world go by. Exploring the city and looking for somewhere to kick back and relax while the kids let off some steam? Make sure the Blackett Street Weekends form part of your summer plans. Expect NE1 deckchairs, super comfy beanbags, plenty of large outdoor games for those with a competitive streak, thrilling fairground rides for little ones and a very inviting selection of amazing and colourful seating - encouraging shoppers to rest their legs and take in the city as the sun shines down from July to early September. There’s plenty of free, family fun to be had when it comes to enjoying the great outdoors in NE1 - make sure you soak up the sun and enjoy this city centre paradise, bringing a festival-feel to the area between Old Eldon Square and Pilgrim Street. A cool, colourful concept we’re excited to bring back to Newcastle!

DISCOVER SECRET FACTS AND TALES HIDDEN IN NEWCASTLE...

STORIES OF NEWCASTLE DANCE HALL AND NIGHTCLUB REVEALED BY CURIOSITY CREATIVE

Take a look back at the city’s iconic nightlife scene with photographs and stories collected from generations of Newcastle dancers and party-goers! The Oxford Galleries on New Bridge Street, later known as Tiffany’s, Ritzy’s, Ikon and Liquid Envy, was the place to be when it came to dance competitions and socials. The memories, which date back to the 1950s, are being brought back to life in a new book called Meet Me At The Oxford, produced by North East digital storytelling organisation, Curiosity Creative. curiositycreative.org.uk

In the 80s when the venue was known as Tiffany’s, bands including REM, the Cocteau Twins, Foreign Feeling, The Three Johns and Southern Death Cult played there.

In 1983, a local musician called DJ Stesh set up ‘The Sidewalk’ which was one of the very first breakdance sessions to take place in the UK.

The rock night on a Monday night was always popular with up-and-coming bands like Bon Jovi turning up to socialise after supporting Kiss at the City Hall.

Art & Culture

BROUGHT TO YOU BY TYNE & WEAR ARCHIVES & MUSEUMS

EGGSCELENT ART
Picture Newcastle in 1450, on a day of celebration, and what comes to mind? A huge painting of the antics of the Shipwright’s Guild on Corpus Christi day 1450 hangs high up in the eaves of the Laing Art Gallery. This painting commemorates the largely lost Newcastle Noah’s Ark mystery plays, performed on moving ‘pageant wagons’ every year.

The Shipwright’s is the only surviving play of around 25 in total, with each performed by a different town guild. The Shipwright’s play is (of course) about the building of the ark, and was followed in the procession cycle by the Mariners’ Guild play, about the flood.

Exceptional artist Louisa Hodgson was commissioned to paint it in the late 1920s and 30s. Further increasing the difficulty, she chose to paint using tempera, where egg yolk is used to bind the paint. The painting celebrates art and spectacle, and was so well regarded that it exhibited at the Royal Academy Summer Exhibition before permanent display in Newcastle.

The play was re-enacted in 2014 by Newcastle University, the first time it had been performed in more than 450 years.
